My dear Miss Whitney

The day is so warm and bright here and the autumn colors so exceedingly beautiful that I have prevailed upon Mrs. Dargan to wait till afternoon when I am going to into town to meet my husband. We will take a train about halfpast four and Mrs. D. should reach the Charlesgate by except that we both have bad telephone voices and cannot easily make ourselves understood.

Oh! how I wish you were here to enjoy this matchless day with us! We send you our love. Mrs. Dargan is well or better this morning after a headache last night - and we are going out on the rocks now to soak ourselves in sunshine -

Dr. Peterson will be so rejoiced to think I have seen you again - You gave me a memorable day with you -

With my hearty love, yours

Antoinette Rodan Peterson

Saturday

My mother kindly takes this love - as she is going to Boston this am - six o'clock or shortly after.

This has been such a pleasure to me and has done me so much good that I am lothto let her go, but I think she wishes you. We mailed her letter to you yesterday at four o'clock and made sure you would have it soon after dinner. We were both so sorry you were anxious and would have telephoned even before your telegram came.
